

Tommy Daniel Tucker

ABOUT ME

I am an extrovert who believes in hard work, I have passion in working with team, and my emotional intelligence is great, I am a goal getter, a good negotiator, goal oriented, and work under pressure in meeting deadlines.

I am highly motivated, and work for reputable organizations that allow creativity, innovation and personal growth. I am presently doing a training on Data Science at Maxim Nyansa IT Solutions. I own a bachelor of science degree in Business and Information Technology from the Njala University with a year experience in data entry and data analysis and making reports. Three months experience through educational internship. I have been involved in working under pressure yet producing the needed result which is an inspiring characteristic that motivate me towards quality result. I take pleasure in working with others and prioritize team success over individual success.
